

SARAH HALL

Sarah retired from King's College London in July 2012 , aged 53, after a 22 year career as a manager for the College, concluding as Director of Administration of Physical Sciences and Engineering. This involved financial and academic planning, working closely with senior academic staff.

With Adrian, Sarah moved to Battle in 2009 - they live at the former workhouse complex in North Trade Road. Sarah read History at King's, specialising in medieval and the Reformation. With Adrian, Sarah has volunteered to help at Batemans and the Almonry Museum but has no other commitments.