

Now a Battle resident, Rowena Kemp has worked in project development, particularly in the area of publishing, in both for-profit and not-for-profit organizations in The Netherlands, India and the USA. Most recently she worked in academic administration at University College London. Her personal focus of interest is Sanskrit language and literature.